

Texto Tipo: Avisos Publicitarios/Advertisements

Texto Informativo/ Informative Text

Technology provides new gadgets every day. They are supposed to make our lives easier and more comfortable. But do they?

Here are some examples for you to judge:

1. The slimmest of the slim music player (0.6 inches) the River Slim X 550 plays MP3s, WMAs and ASFs, in addition to music CD's and its built-in FM receiver. The anti- shock feature keeps your CDs playing smoothly, and users can get up to 55 hours of playback time on its two internal rechargeable NiMH batteries. The Unit comes equipped with a liquid –crystal–screen remote control, earbuds, an external battery adapter for AA batteries and an ac adapter. $ 179.99 www.amazon.com.
2. Unlock the complexities of foreign lands with this Spanish-English communicator, which translates and pronounces 4.000 words and 2.400 phrases... Struggle no longer with this pocketable electronic dictionary.
Franklin Spanish English Communicator. $ 49.00 www.amazon.com.
3. This is one of the new Microsoft Smart Watches. They receive news, weather forecasts and messages through radio waves. These pieces of the future are made by Fossil. $ 129 to $ 299 US.
4. This shuttle laptop case protects the computer inside and make you irresistibly different. Shuttle $US 69.99 www.ebags.com.